

For research periods abroad until September 2026, an additional source of funding is available at one of the following universities:

Columbia University (United States)

Kyoto University (JAP)

Ritsumeikan University (JAP)

The Chinese University of Hong Kong (CHI)

University of Tokyo (JAP)

University of Quebec in Montreal (CAN)

University of California – Santa Barbara (United States)

University of New South Wales (AUS)

The stay must last at least one month, and a grant of €1,000 per month of stay may be requested in the form of reimbursement of expenses.

PhD candidates will receive a proposal during the year to apply by submitting a research program to be carried out at the chosen university, along with a letter from a faculty member at that university declaring their willingness to work with the candidate.
